VOLUME III, No. 44

Wednesday, August 26, 1981

Less than a scant two weeks remain before school starts again and these youngsters are making sure they enjoyed every minute of the waning summer. The trio plunge into the waters of Boshkung Lake after jumping from the Vankoughnet Road bridge.

Request denied

Lutterworth Council turned down a property owner's application for rezoning part of his lot which would allow the installation of a mobile home but the decision was made after the applicant had left the meeting.

Peter Millard, who owns property on the Gull River, off the Hunter Creek Road, appeared at the August 20 meeting.

He wanted approval to permit a single-wide mobile home to be used as a seasonal residential dwelling.

One member of council, Bill Valentine was absent from the meeting and council said it wanted to hold the matter over until Valentine returned.

Reeve Ron Gambell told Millard he might get objections from neighbours. By-law officer, Steve Fox said, "Anybody could object."

However, Millard said he only had neighbours on one side of his property.

"If I had a cottage I wouldn't want a mobile home next to me," said Gambell.

Council said it was willing to allow the mobile home to be installed and if there were objections the Ontario Municipal Board could deal

Canoe accident takes life

A Toronto man drowned last Friday afternoon when he fell out of the canoe from which he and a friend were fishing.

Twenty-seven year old Eric Niels Dahl was recovered in 15 feet of water by OPP divers around 8 p.m. that evening.

Kenneth Russell Farr, 26, of Unionville told police he felt the canoe lurch to one side and after he balanced it he looked behind to see that Dahl was in the water.

He said he dove in but Dahl had disappeared under the surface. Farr and a few local cottagers failed to find the body.

The coroner, Dr. L. B. Pierce has not called for an inquest but a post mortem was held at Peterborough Civic Hospital on Saturday.

Constable Dennis Potter was the investigating officer.

White water action slated for September 12 and 13

The Minden Wild Water Preserve will be the site of canoe and kayak competition one more time this year.

Roger Parsons, manager of the site, announced earlier this month that the 1981 Provincial Slalom Championships for both canoe and kayak is slated for September 12 and 13.

The weekend will include practice runs on Saturday with the competition taking place on Sunday. Race time is 10 a.m.

Parsons has also announced that a Pan-American Championship will end its three venue competition at the local site in September 1982. The competition, which is expected to draw paddlers from many countries, is considered second only to the World Championship.

The first two races in the Pan-American series will be held on the Savage River in Maryland and at Jonquiere, Quebec. The results of the competition here could determine the winners of the event.

"We are very fortunate to have a race of this calibre," Parsons noted in the announcement. He said that since this is only the first time the Pan-American competition has been held, full teams from all countries are not expected to attend. He indicated however, that a strong contingent is expected from the United States where team members dominate many of the race categories.

Word of the Minden Wild Water Preserve is spreading, Parsons noted. He said the site was being discussed by paddlers at a recent competition at Bala, Wales and a number of European white water enthusiasts have recently visited the site.

As usual, the public is invited to watch the competitions. Parsons pointed out that the trails on both sides of the rapids provide access to interesting vantage points from which to watch and photograph the action.

Young car thief flees accident scene

A car was stolen from the Good Medical Centre in Haliburton last Friday morning and was then involved in a collision near Highway 519.

Peggie Neville, of Haliburton, reported her 1981 Omni stolen from the parking lot. The car was driven out and past the laundromat but failed to stop at the highway intersection.

It collided with a 1979 GMC van driven by Barbara Debler, 32, of Glamorgan.

A youth described as 10 or 11 years old with shoulder length blond hair and wearing blue jeans and jacket was seen running from the stolen car.

Damage to the Omni was $400 and to the van $100. Investigation was by Constable Dennis Potter.

Moped mishap

A Haliburton man was involved in an accident on August 2 but didn't report it to police until last Wednesday because he thought the Hospital would notify police.

Richard Mark Creelman, 18, had been driving east on Highway 121 on a Honda moped. He was attempting to turn left onto a side street when he hit the curb and was thrown from the bike.

He was taken to Haliburton Hospital with a broken nose and was later transferred to Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Constable Al Barnes was the investigating officer.

Stolen car

A Downsview man's car was stolen Sunday morning and was later involved in several incidents during the day.

Gary Ernest Morcom reported the theft of his 1974 Plymouth Duster from outside his cabin on Head Lake in Haliburton.

Later that morning, the caretaker of the Haliburton Pioneer Museum reported the lawn at the museum had been churned up by a car's wheels.

A short time later, police received a call saying a car had hit some rocks on Pine Street in Haliburton.

When Constable Jim Solway arrived he discovered

Child dies in highway mishap

A young boy visiting his grandmother from the Bahamas, died last Thursday when he darted out in front of a car on Highway 121, just east of the Ingoldsby turn.

Nine-year old Ronald William McPhail was trying to cross the road to pick up his grandmother's mail. He apparently waited for one vehicle to pass then ran out into the path of a 1970 Plymouth station wagon driven by Wendy Joyce Wilkins, 37, of Minden.

McPhail was hit by the car's fender and died almost instantly of head injuries.

The coroner, Dr. A. D. Holliday-Rhodes, did not call for an inquest nor a post mortem.

There were no charges laid in the incident. Constable Bob Pearson investigated.

Riders use snowmobile trails

The snowmobile trails south of Gooderham resounded with a different sound this past week as a group of horseback riders discovered the beauty of the Highlands.

Organized through the auspices of the Ontario Trail Riders Association and coordinated locally by Sue Bennett of Minden, the week-long outing attracted eight riders, including an eight year old horseman and 60 year old enthusiast.

The riders used trails which have been cut for snowmobile use in the winter, travelling on part of the Five Points system and the new Sno One route. The ride covered a circular route starting at Mississauga Lake.

According to Sue Bennett, the excellent weather of the past week added to the beauty of the county's back country. "Everywhere we turned along the trail there were breathtaking views," she commented. "Often we would see or hear game crashing through the bush. Deer and wolf tracks were evident in many places."

The riders packed all their gear including tents, cooking needs, food, sleeping gear and feed for the horses.

The route took the riders on a short detour to Picard Lake where they were amazed by the amount of wild-life in the area. A number of four footed-scavengers (raccoons) even attempted to make off with some of the camp supplies, but were chased away.

The group is already planning next year's ride and is looking at routes along the Petersen Trail, the Pine Ridge Trail or near Apsley. Anyone interested in more information on the Ontario Trail Riders Association should contact Sue Bennett at 286-2919.

Damage to the car totalled $1,000.

However, Gambell said that was just a way of "passing the buck" to someone else.

Township clerk, Wayne Hughes told council Millard's proposal was against an already existing by-law that prohibits the installation of mobile homes.

At first, council members seemed to want to go ahead with the application but wanted further discussion. It assured Millard he would be notified of council's decision.

However, after he left, council decided to deny the request although Gambell said he thought Millard knew from council's mixed reaction what the answer would be.

Editorial

Count us out

In commentaries appearing in last week's edition of the Haliburton Echo, concern was expressed over the increasing use of in-camera or committee of the whole meetings by the township council of Anson, Hindon and Minden. The concern is one which we have noted in these columns on numerous occasions in the past.

However, both the editorial and columnist's comments suggested that, in certain instances, the press should be allowed to attend the closed meetings on the understanding that none of what transpires can be reported. The rationale behind this suggestion is that the reporters would be able to gain valuable "background" information that could assist them in assessing the entire situation.

We at The Times reject that suggestion totally.

When the press is in attendance at a meeting, it is there as the eyes and ears of its readers, to take in what has transpired and pass on that information. Even though the reporters may claim to represent their many readers, who are also taxpayers in the community, it does not confer any special status or privilege on the members of the press.

Indeed, we feel reporters would be seriously compromising their responsibility to their readers if they agreed to sit in on closed meetings with the members of the council. The reporters' integrity, and ability to honestly and fairly report on the proceedings of such a council could rightfully be called into question by the readers.

The taxpayers of this and all municipalities have a right to know what the elected representatives are doing on their behalf. The only way to ensure that is the case, is for the councils to conduct as much of the municipality's business as possible in open meetings. Reporters who join the councillors behind their curtain of secrecy are only helping to perpetuate a situation about which all citizens of the community should be concerned.

Congratulations

This week we offer a tip o' the hat and congratulations to the Haliburton County Echo. The other newspaper serving the readers of the Highlands starts its second century of publishing with this week's edition.

In reviewing the history of this respected journal, we can't help but note that its formative years were spent here in Minden.

The Echo has served its readers and community well through the years. We wish the publishers and staff well on this important point in their publishing history and all the best for years to come.

Confucius still have influence in today's China

Patrick Daniel is a cottager in the Highlands and has been a candidate in this riding for the New Democratic Party in recent elections. He is just completing a stay in China as an English instructor at a teachers' college. This is the fourth in a series of reports concerning Mr. Daniel's observations while in China.

Qifu is a town that gives one the sense of the long continuity of China's history. Over 2000 years ago, the followers of Confucius established a temple here in his honour, for this was the place where he spent most of his teaching career, the place where he was born, and the place where he was buried.

The burial place is a large wooded area about the size of many farms in southern Ontario. Within the walls of the burial ground are the tombstones of literally thousands of the descendants of Confucius, even unto the 77th generation. For up until "liberation" in 1949, all of his descendants were entitled to be buried here; and even today when we talk to a fellow-teacher or a student named Kong, we know that he, too, is one of the descendants of Confucius. It reminds one of the Scottish clan system.

The tomb of Confucius is at the back of the cemetery; before you reach it, there are many other monuments to look at and admire. Several of them are set off with the double rows of stone figures, animals and humans, that were loved by many of the Chinese emperors. You can see the same kinds of statues in front of the Ming tombs north of Peking, and in front of the tomb of the Ming emperor who was buried in a park in Nanjing as well.

As you travel two miles back into the town from the graveyard, you watch the threshing of the winter wheat which has just been harvested in early June. The threshing is all done by hand on a beaten mud, open-air threshing floor. And the car must thread its way between two lines of threshed wheat spread on the paved road to dry in the sun under the watchful eyes of old women and young children; they rake it from time to time with long wooden rakes so that the under grains will also get the benefit of the sun.

Even in the town the threshed wheat is spread on all the main streets so that there is only a single lane down the middle of the road for the trucks, cars, donkey-carts and bicycles.

The temple of Confucius is in the centre of the town, the entrance just across the road from the old south gate. Visitors move slowly up the tree-lined path which leads through various ante-rooms and summer houses to the final temple where hangs the portrait - new and rather garish - of Confucius himself.

We stop to chat with some students of English from the nearby Teachers' College who are surprised to find me joking with my daughter - in China, they say, fathers usually have a rather formal relationship with their children. This, too, is part of the tradition of respect for parents and all older people which is a reflection of the Confucian heritage still powerful in the minds of many Chinese.

Confucianism, like all other religions, no longer has any official sanction. But the anti-Confucian movement of the Cultural Revolution has been replaced by a desire to preserve the old buildings as historic sites. Qifu has been re-opened to foreigners; painting and repair work are under way.

The third place of great historical interest in the town of Qifu is the home of the Confucius family. In the 2000 year period from the death of Confucius until the time of the Chinese-Japanese wars this was the complex of the clan. There were reception rooms for the conduct of public affairs, for the family had judicial and administrative powers as well as religious responsibilities. Then there are the private family quarters for the head of the clan and his immediate family, each wife being given a separate section of the house, and daughters being carefully secluded in the upper stories of the building.

Today the rooms are furnished as they were when last inhabited fifty years ago - with beds, chairs, tables, and ornaments handed down through the generations. The red silk is somewhat faded; the family photos of the last inhabitants are in the solemn style of the last century. And we are told that the 78th generation head of the clan is now in Taiwan!

Confucius was off the mark on many points; for instance, like most moral systems of his day, his philosophy relegates women to a very low status. These are the reasons why the Maoists attacked him. But he and his followers must be given credit for some of the most attractive and civilised aspects of Chinese society today. At its best this society can produce examples of self-restraint, courtesy and patience which other societies could use profitably as models. And many of these traditional Chinese virtues have their roots in Qifu more than 2000 years ago.

We came to Qifu the first time on the thirty-first anniversary of the founding of the People's Republic of China - October 1, 1980. It was good to go back to this place as we near the end of our stay in China. It seems a haven in a bustling society which is struggling with gigantic problems of overpopulation, and the dislocations caused by ten years of near anarchy.

Deep Bay Road widening questioned

A cottager concerned about increased traffic on the Deep Bay Road, says plans to widen the road will only cause more problems and he wants County Council to consider constructing a by-pass to re-route traffic.

Ken Hack was present at the August 20 meeting of Lutterworth Council and he made the request to Reeve Ron Gambell and Deputy-Reeve, Glyn Lewis as representatives on County Council. Several years ago, said Hack, there had been talk by County engineer Bill Obee about re-aligning the road and making improvements, but Hack said this would only cause more problems and more people would be using the road.

"We have to cross the road to get to the water and sometimes it can be dangerous," said Hack.

Hack said he doesn't want to see some of the trees and the shoreline lost through road construction.

He also raised the issue that the road is used a great deal

The Coopers - a piping family

by Sue Scott

It sure would have been wonderful to be a fly on the wall, or perhaps a stained glass window, in a certain church in Timmins this past Saturday.

A special wedding was taking place and an uncle and three cousins of the groom had the honour of playing the bagpipes as the procession made its way up the aisle. The pipers were all from Haliburton County.

For the first time, Earl Cooper, of West Guilford, and his sons, George, Allin and Andy were playing together. And whether or not you like the music, you couldn't help feeling a little lump in your throat at the sight of a family celebrating a happy occasion in their own unique way.

The bagpipes hold a fascination for Earl but he admits he didn't know very much about them before he began playing, close to 40 years ago.

"My older brother had learned to play," he says. "I had never played before, never had any association, in fact the first time I heard them I didn't know what they were. It was when King George VI and Queen Elizabeth were here in 1938."

It was the pipe band playing during the royal couple's arrival that struck Earl and the music lingered with him.

In 1941, his brother started playing with the Rotary Youth Training Corps in Toronto, a group affiliated with the 48th Highlanders.

When the Corps came to Haliburton one Christmas to play, a friend of Earl's brother showed Earl the fingering for the practice chanter, a smaller version of the pipe chanter, and later Earl says, he was sent a chanter plus three pieces of music.

"That's how I learned," says Earl. "I never had any other instruction and I never played other than by myself except for a parade or something like that."

He tried a couple of times to organize a pipe band by teaching people in the community to play but it was unsuccessful.

"The first time, most of the fellows were, like myself, building homes and working and many found they didn't have enough time," he explains.

Then he tried teaching at the high school, offering piping as an extra-curricular activity or at sessions during study hall but it never really got going.

By this time, however, Earl was busy with his own activities and he was becoming more widely known.

"I was playing for weddings and head table events," he says. "For years I was the only piper in the County. In some areas, it was quite a thing to have a piper to do things like bring in a head table."

Pipe band

It was a real accomplishment when the Haliburton Legion pipe band was formed and were playing by 1972.

"The two older boys were part of that band," says Earl. "As well there was another family, a husband and wife and their three daughters."

Now, piping is popular, says Earl but it really started the year before the Legion band played in its first parade. "The year the CNE started the World Festival Tattoo really made piping popular all over the world because then there were a few bands, there are a lot now," says Earl.

Whenever the Legion band plays the item that interests people the most is the tartan the band wears.

It's the Haliburton Highlands tartan which has been a registered tartan in Scotland since 1963. "It's a great way of advertising the County," says Earl.

Two of his sons, Allin and Andy, attended the School for the Gaelic Arts in Timmins, one of the few schools in Canada to specifically teach the art of playing the bagpipe.

"It's been operating eight years," explains Earl. "And up until this year the teacher was Seumas (pronounced Sha-mas) Macneill who wrote the College of Piping book and is the head of the School of Piping in Glasgow." Earl says he got the book when he was getting the Legion band together.

The youngest Cooper to take up the music of the bagpipe is 12-year old Andy who says he was intrigued when he saw his father and brothers playing. "I tried the drums first, then the pipes, then the drums again and then I stuck with the pipes," says Andy. "I like being able to do something not many people can do."

He says the most difficult thing to learn is the fingering and Earl nodded in agreement. "To anyone who plays any other instrument, it's an awkward fingering," Earl says. "You don't use the ends of your finger to play, like a recorder, the fingers go across and you lift from the knuckle."

The skirl of the bagpipes is a sound that either enchants or repels. As Earl puts it, "It seems to be like the saying 'it appeals or appalls.' " Actually, he says it can grow on you after a while if you're exposed to it.

Egyptian origin

The pipes are really an ancient instrument with origins in Egypt. A primitive form of the bagpipe was played by the Greeks and Romans and eventually throughout Europe when it was brought by the Celts and the Romans on invasions.

In Britain and other European countries, the bagpipe was known as the instrument of the people and was popular in the small villages during outdoor events. But, with the growth of cities, more elaborate instruments were made. The trend was also to indoor musical presentations.

In Scotland, the bagpipes had a special appeal.

Its martial music appealed to the warlike spirit of the people. It fit into the Clan system then in place in the Highlands.

Chiefs of clans would have their own pipers, a distinction that was sometimes hereditary. Later colleges were set up to teach playing.

During this time, around 1600, the classical music of the bagpipe was developed known as "Ceol Mor," or "Piobaireachd" which compares with some of the great compositions in the world of music.

It may seem a matter of course to some that the name Cooper also had its origins in the Scottish Highlands but Earl says this isn't so. "Our branch of the Coopers is not Scottish at all," says Earl. In fact, the home the Coopers now live is the home Earl was born and his father lives right beside him.

Earl's grandfather settled in the area about 1900 and his great-grandfather came from the British Army and lived near where Camp Calumet is now located.

All of the Coopers are extremely musical and Mrs. Cooper says its the way its always been. "Music has been a part of our lives for as long as I can remember," she says. Then, she adds, "It would have been a terrible thing if one of the children were tone deaf."

Earl says Allin is the most musical because he has perfect pitch and can follow on the piano anything Earl plays.

Earl plays the mandolin and the fiddle as do a couple of the boys and Mrs. Cooper plays the piano.

Playing the bagpipes, though, is the most challenging and takes a lot of patience.

"Sometimes I'm inclined to say, because I can play, it can't be too hard to learn," Earl says. "It does take you quite a while and it takes persistence. I see kids who start, who just want to play something quickly but it all takes time."

Earl Cooper has had the pleasure and honor of piping some of the country's best known people. Among them, Premier William Davis, former Lieutenant Governor, Pauline McGibbon, and the late John Diefenbaker when he visited Lindsay as Prime Minister.

Earl will always remember the experience he had working in Tillsonburg that proved that once you really hear bagpipes you can't help but like them.

"I met a woman down there who said she didn't dislike them but they just sounded the same, there was no tune."

At that time, I had my pipes and a few of us used to play in the evenings. She went to a concert where an Ingersoll band was playing. After she heard me play she said, "There really is a tune to this," and after that she really enjoyed them."

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

The "Secondary Education Review Project" was established in April of 1980 by the Ontario Ministry of Education to consider three basic questions to which clear and firm answers must be sought: What do we want from our secondary schools? Why do we want it? How are we going to do it?

A discussion paper was prepared and distributed based on input from the committees involved and input has been invited based on its 101 recommendations. The Ontario Chamber of Commerce in responding to the document commended the Ministry and the committees in particular for the way in which it was prepared and presented. They note that the Chamber supports the concept of business/education co-operation. There is a growing awareness that the process of education and the process of employment are not mutually exclusive. With this in mind the Ontario Chamber was very supportive of the many recommendations that embody this co-operative approach.

One of the recommendations that aroused particular enthusiasm from the Chamber was that the Ministry of Education provide leadership to assist school boards, schools and teachers to make effective use of new electronic technologies. The Chamber felt this point should be stressed in view of the rapid progress and changes taking place in these fields and urged that co-ordination take place on a provincial level immediately to deal with the impact of new electronic technology on the education system's needs for the future.

In line with this the Chamber also noted that a recommendation for school boards to undergo a co-operative review process every 10 years would not be sufficient and that an on going review system was necessary to deal with the rapid changes taking place in our society.

This is a very comprehensive review and it is very timely considering the difficulty many of our young people are having fitting into the working world. Let us hope that it finds its way into actual use shortly, rather than gathering dust as many of these government studies so often do.

Winter planning

It may be difficult to think about winter now in this sunny weather, but the planning processes must take place now. Last week we were busy gathering information for the Ontario Ministry of Industry and Tourism "Winter Packages" book from the various operations that have them available. Now it is time to provide them with a list of our winter events for the winter events booklet. Both of these books also provide them with the information that goes into their other forms of promotion such as the winter supplement that was distributed with the weekend magazines last year. The last supplement that was published had a circulation of 8 million copies.

If you have been presuming that someone else has been providing us with information on your events please don't. No one has, and we may either miss submitting it or provide incorrect information unless you see to it that we are fully informed. We must have all information into Queen's Park by September 1 so please call the Chamber, at 286-2760 today, and let us know about your organization's plans.

What's new

It's been a good many years since Gord Bennett went in to see Lloyd Coneybeare who operated the garage next door to where he lived to ask about a job. Gord became Lloyd's first apprentice and after working there for almost 12 years moved on to Curry Motors. This weekend Gord returned to the place where he started as the new owner and the well known AMC and British Leyland dealership will now be called Bennett Motors. We sincerely welcome Gord into our membership and wish him continued success. Lloyd and Rose Coneybeare will now be retiring to their home on Lake Kashagawigamog and are looking forward to a well earned rest. Our best wishes to them also.

Glen Storey this week announced the opening of his Inter City Tire Dealership in Wilberforce at the rear of his store (Glen's 10 to 10) where he will sell and install both new and used tires for cars, trucks, skidders and loaders. They also provide 24 hour road service.

In case you hadn't noticed, this column is back to appearing weekly (or is it weakly) contrary to our earlier decision to only run it every two weeks.

It was found that, particularly during the busy summer months, we needed to communicate more often than every two weeks when so much was going on. In the meantime, the Board has re-examined the advantages and disadvantages of trying to free up time for out-of-area news releases, but felt that it was not worthwhile to sacrifice local communication for this purpose. The Board is still concerned, however, that our budget does not allow us to do the type of external news release program that we feel we should be doing, and we shall continue to search for ways to accomplish this.

Coming events

With one more week before Labour Day we are still not aware of any details on fall events. We sincerely hope that we will have some worthwhile activities to promote along with the colour supplied by Mother Nature. In the meantime, don't miss the big Kinmount Fair on the Labour Day weekend. Kinmount has become famous for its excellent fair and we can guarantee you will not be disappointed.

Also on Labour Day weekend, and more specifically, Saturday, September 5, commencing at 11:00 a.m., the Minden Curling Club are holding a giant auction sale in the new curling rink. All funds are in aid of their building fund so you can help pay for this new facility while picking up a few bargains.

Haliburton Echo has its roots in Minden

The Haliburton County Echo and Minden Recorder is celebrating a special anniversary this week.

The newspaper is publishing its 100th volume this week and it has seen a lot of changes since the first issue came out many years ago.

In those days, the paper was known as the Minden Echo and Haliburton Recorder was published by Brown and Small in Minden.

One of the first owners of the paper was a fiery Irishman, J. H. Delamere who moved to Minden in 1876. His home, known as "Cliff Cottage" was located at the southern entrance to Minden which sounds suspiciously near the home of the present publisher and editor of the Minden Times.

Delamere was a popular and ambitious businessman in town and he owned the Echo for about 20 years. One of his other positions in town was that of Sunday School superintendent which kept him close to the young people of the area whose company he enjoyed.

He and his family moved to the area of the Northern Eagle resort and later to Lake Kashagawigamog at Ingoldsby. Baker owned the paper for twenty years until 1928 after which he moved back to Ingoldsby from Minden to run a general store.

The year 1942 was a disastrous one for Minden as fire struck most of the town's business section and with it the Echo office.

Wilbur McArthur was the owner then and the fire destroyed all the paper's records and back issues.

Wednesday, August 26, 1981

In 1951, the Haliburton Echo and Minden Recorder was born and its first issue was published on January 10, 1952 by W. Noice and B. Feir in Haliburton.

In 1954, Berkley Feir and his son, Creighton were the publishers of the paper and this association continued for 10 years.

There are still copies of the old Minden Echo in existence dating from May 1, 1891 to November 25, 1892. Mr. Verne Graham of Minden has preserved them in the National Archives in Ottawa.

It's good to know a little bit of Haliburton County will be around for future generations to remember.

Thank you

We were pleased to host the first Haliburton County Farmer's Association farm tour. It was a great success.

Thank you to our many neighbours who showed an interest in our naturally produced food.

Everyone Welcome

Over 200 attended open house

The farm tour and open house sponsored by the Haliburton County Farmers' Association was a great success Sunday. According to host farmer Bud Kirchner, over 200 people visited the farm during the day.

Kirchner estimated that 2/3 of those who toured the farm were visitors to the area, either cottagers or individuals passing through. The remainder were county residents.

"The Farmers' Association representatives were thrilled with the turn-out," Kirchner commented. "The number and enthusiasm of the visitors was beyond our wildest dreams."

Members of the association were posted at various points about the farm to answer the questions posed by visitors. According to Kirchner, those who came showed a keen interest in the activities on his farm and in agriculture in general in the County.

"The day seemed to reflect a community spirit that is common in most rural areas. Neighbours took the time to stop and chat. There was a good feeling in the air," he said.

Kirchner said he felt the profile of farming and the Farmers' Association had been raised as a result of the open house which was one of the purposes of the event. (For more information on the Haliburton County Farmers' Association, readers can contact Joan Moore at 488-2613.)

The horses proved to be a popular attraction, especially for the children during the open house and farm at Kirchesse.

Road

during the winter and a large amount of salt must be applied to the road. In the spring, the salt runs into the lake because the road is adjacent to the water. "That sort of pollution doesn't help the acid rain situation," Hack said.

He asked council if it would be less expensive to widen the road than to put in the by-pass.

Gambell admitted the road should be improved but it might take three or four years to complete one section of the road and it might take up to 10 to finish the whole road.

"The cost would be prohibitive," said Hack. "There must be another alternative."

Councillor Bill Prentice said the road doesn't have proper ditches and Councillor Al Stott told Hack he had given council a lot to think about.

However, in an interview Friday, Gambell said he was thinking of asking Obee to leave the road alone for the meantime.

Council agreed the by-pass is not a good idea because the land would be almost impossible to clear.

A variety of vegetables, fresh from the garden, were on display.

Minden claims consolation-- Toronto takes tourney title

The Toronto Cavaliers won the championship in the first Rockcliffe Hustler Fastball Invitational Tournament.

Lead by pitcher Wolf Peters (Most Valuable Player of the tournament), who pitched his team to 4 straight wins, the Cavaliers defeated Glen Grove in the final game to take the championship.

The Rockcliffe Hustlers, after losing their first game to Haliburton, bounced back to win their next three games to win the consolation championship. They defeated Goodwood in the finals.

The tournament proved to be a huge success. Warm sunny weather favoured most of the weekend and some 500 fans gathered to watch the action which for the most part was very competitive.

With the proceeds, the Hustlers hope to promote minor ball next year and make improvements at the ball park.

The following is a summary of the action during the weekend.

First round: Haliburton 3 - Minden 0; Fenelon Falls 6 - Newmarket 2; Lindsay 8 - Huntsville Leslie Adams 7; Type-Hi Printing 3 - Port Sydney 2; Toronto Cavaliers 9 - Woodville 1; Glen Grove 8 - Huntsville Gulf 4; Etobicoke 5 - Goodwood 1.

Second round, championship series: Fenelon Falls 5 - Haliburton 4; Toronto Cavaliers 6 - Lindsay 2; Glen Grove 11 - Etobicoke 5; Type-Hi Printing - bye.

Second round, consolation series: Minden 8 - Newmarket 1; Woodville 14 - Port Sydney 2; Goodwood 5 -

Huntsville Gulf 2; Huntsville Leslie Adams - bye.

Third round: championship series: Toronto Cavaliers 4 - Fenelon Falls 1; Glen Grove 9 - Type-Hi Printing 4.

Third round, consolation: Minden 7 - Huntsville Leslie Adams 0; Goodwood 7 - Woodville 0.

Grand championship: Toronto Cavaliers 9 - Glen Grove 2.

Consolation championship: Minden 5 - Goodwood 1.

Hustlers in finals

The Rockcliffe Hustlers have begun the championship series in the Tri-County Softball League. They met Lindsay York Tavern Tuesday evening in the opening game of the best of five series.

The second game in the play-off is slated for the Minden diamond Wednesday at 8 p.m. Everyone is invited to come out and support the local team in their bid for the championship.

No, he didn't play during the tournament in the weekend, but this youngster proved to be a crowd pleaser just the same as he donned baseball gear.

Permit deadline extended

Once again the date for hunters to send in their applications for antlerless deer permits for the coming season has been extended. The new date for filing the applications has been set at August 31.

Initially the applications had to be submitted to the Ministry of Natural Resources by early August. This date was moved ahead to August 20 and has been extended again to August 31. The main reason for the extensions has been the problems created by the postal strike.

Only those individuals who have purchased a resident's or farmer's licence to hunt deer may apply for the antlerless deer permit. For more information, hunters can contact the Minden office of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

SENIOR LEAGUE

Monday morning we began our regular activities with the fun and fitness program. This program keeps everyone fit both physically and mentally and is held four mornings a week. The residents enjoy games and exercising to music. After lunch several ladies went to the craft-room to work on their projects. We are proud of the lovely hand made items they are producing in preparation for the Christmas Bazaar. In the evening the movies were shown in the auditorium. Portrait of Bermuda was a picturesque film showing us the beauty of Bermuda and telling us the history of the island. It is a very desirable place to vacation or spend the rest of your life. Forest Heritage told a story of how forests are cut to produce pulp and paper and then reforested. We learned how the style of woodcutting has vastly changed since logging began. This film was of particular interest to our resident men as many of them made their living working with logs. Tuesday morning Rev. Douglas Miller of Minden United Church held service in the chapel. Norma Barron was here to play the organ for the singing of the hymns. In the afternoon our bingo players gathered in the auditorium for a game. The residents always enjoy and look forward to the weekly bingo games. After supper, a good number of people gathered in the main lounge to enjoy the toe-tapping piano music played by Ray Jenkins. Wednesday evening there was a good turnout for Games Night. The residents enjoyed games of euchre, cribbage and crokinole. We would like to thank Stan and Eileen Blears, Percy Drysdale and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parker for their assistance.

Thursday afternoon the members of Harcourt Community Chapel brought a delicious lunch for the tea party. They served a lovely variety of sandwiches and goodies. After the lunch the group put on a play portraying the story of David and Goliath and then sang a number of spiritual songs. The residents thoroughly enjoyed the food and entertained and also the children who were with the group. Our thanks to all these people for a most enjoyable afternoon. Friday afternoon several residents went to the Flower Show which was held at the Minden Community Centre. The floral arrangements on display were just beautiful. Our residents enjoyed refreshments before leaving to go home. Everyone then gathered in the lounge for the sing song. Grace Coburn led the singing with Maron Rose accompanying on the piano.

Well kids, summer holidays are coming to an end. This will be the last Thursday for crafts at the library.

What did the can say to the can opener?

You make me flip my lid

What is steam?

Cold water going crazy with the heat

What has eighteen legs, red spots and catches flies?
A baseball team with measles

What is worse than a giraffe with a sore throat?
A centipede with sore feet

What is always out but never cold?

What is the kindest animal in the forest?
A skunk. It gives it last scent to its worst enemy

Bye for now. Take it easy.
God bless till next time.

Two winners at Rotary Bingo last Tuesday, Sherry Walker won a Snowball in 22 numbers and amount was $108; Pearl Cowen won the Jackpot of $250 in 52 numbers, congrats to both.

The Morgan Uptons of Toronto spent the weekend at their home in the village.

After 30 days of summer camp

My kid returned to me:
Nine shredded T-shirts,
Eight garter snakes,
Seven pounds of rocks,
Six filthy towels,
Five torn swimsuits,
Four wet pajamas,
Three live toads,
Two cans of worms
And a rash from a poison-oak tree.

The Blake Hughes of Mississauga visited over the weekend with his parents the Bob Hughes.

Hope you got up to see the Horticultural Show, the setting was good, and after you viewed the display you could enjoy their tea or coffee and lunch. The folks in charge are to be congratulated on a very successful end of their planning.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Austen, Amanda, Laura and Sarah of Riverview N.B. have been visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Austen and also his aunt Mrs. Ern Hewitt, and the other Austen families.

Everyone we talk to these days is busy with vegetables, or fruit for the winter. We have been busy with our apples, and have found many ways to store them or use them, we even tried dutch apple sauce, and more difficult is to do this with no sugar added.

The Fred Hewitts of Scarborough and Neil Hewitt of Carleton Place visited over the weekend with their mother, Mrs. Ern Hewitt.

Recently Marjorie Cook visited with her brother and his wife, Sandy and Irene Stewart.

My wife and I are going to live at Hyland Crest. We both are getting on in years, And thought it was the best. Some folks who are living there

Say that's the place to be
If you have trouble changing gears,
Or have water on your knee.
They say the meals are really good,
The nurses they are grand;
They check your pulse and heart-beat,
And maybe hold your hand.
You don't wash dishes anymore
Or have to clean and scrub -
If you need a nice warm bath
They'll dump you in the tub.
We will let you know later
When we are there as guests
How that we are faring,
Down at Hyland Crest!

Every step of the way

One of the biggest steps your child will ever take is the first one. But others are coming up:
College, starting out in business, marriage.

And as a parent, one of the smartest steps you can take is guaranteeing your child money when it's needed, even if you die.

Let me show you how Mutual Life can help you help your child every step of the way.
